Our Life is Love:
A Quaker Wisdom School
for Quakers and Wisdom Seekers of All Faiths

From time immemorial Wisdom schools have formed during periods of great spiritual and cultural transition as a crucible of transformation and a meeting ground between ancient, time-tested practices and emerging spiritual insight. They are shaped by the core principle that Wisdom cannot be accessed by the mind alone; it requires a transformation of the entire being.

In this first-ever Quaker Wisdom School, internationally acclaimed Wisdom teacher Cynthia Bourgeault will team up with Quaker spiritual leaders Marcelle Martin and Paulette Meier to more deeply engage the dialogue and cross-pollination between the Quaker and other strains of the Christian contemplative stream. Following the time-tested pattern of “ora et labora” – prayer and work – we will engage the core practices that sustain the transformation of consciousness (contemplative prayer, sacred chanting, mindful practical work) in an atmosphere richly charged with the Quaker heritage of silent worship, voluntary simplicity, and a deepening attunement to the Light within. The fundamental precepts of Quaker spirituality woven so deeply into Pendle Hill itself will reverberate still more strongly through the haunting chants of Quaker songwriter Paulette Meier, which will form both the spiritual and acoustical matrix for our work together during the week.
