

Index of Pendle Hill Pamphlets 1934 - 2017

Introduction

Many remarkable gifts have come out of the Pendle Hill experience, but few are more remarkable than the series of Pendle Hill Pamphlets, ongoing now for eighty years. Conceived as the published equivalent of messages spoken in a Friends' meeting for worship, these brief essays reflect the range and vision of unprogrammed Quaker religious thought and practice.

Among the authors represented here are a handful of famous names, such as Toynbee, Weil, and Buber. But for the most part the pamphlets are the works of a "cloud of witnesses" distinguished primarily for their spirit and expressiveness. And while there are recurring themes among them (peace, worship, art), the four hundred-plus titles cover almost as many topics.

Over the years, many readers have commented on the richness of spiritual resources and information represented in these essays. Many have also asked for help in using them in study, reflection, and research. This index is designed to answer that need. It includes four sections:

- Section I is an annotated list of the pamphlets. This list is in numerical order, and the pamphlet number serves as a cross-reference tool throughout the index. Each listing includes title, author, date of publication (in parentheses), a brief summary of the essay, and its subjects.
- Section II groups the pamphlets alphabetically by author.
- Section III lists the pamphlets alphabetically by title.
- Section IV offers a subject index for the pamphlets.

Index by Number

Cooperation and Coercion as Methods of Social Change

Nicholson, Vincent De Witt (1934)

- 1 The author asks if the consequences of differences and conflicts can be creative instead of devastating.

Cooperation - Conflict Resolution

A Religious Solution to the Social Problem

Brinton, Howard Haines (1934)

- 2 A solution to the social problem of excessive individualism will be a religious one which still respects the rights of the individual.

Simplicity

The Value of Voluntary Simplicity

Gregg, Richard Bartlett (1936)

- 3 Voluntary simplicity involves inner and outer conditions, such as intentional organization of life for a purpose.

Simplicity

The Totalitarian Claim of the Gospels

Willson, Dora (1939)

- 4 When reading Jesus's teachings, one should clear the mind of preconceptions and the interpretations of modern psychologies, then concentrate on the Gospels' application to practical living.

Bible - Gospels - Criticism

Pacifist Program in Time of War, Threatened War, or Fascism

Gregg, Richard Bartlett (1939)

- 5 A proposal to alter our social environment based on pacifism and nonviolence.

Conscientious Objection - Pacifism - Religious Society of Friends

Functional Poverty

Young, Mildred Binns (1939)

- 6 Three papers derived from the author's experiences suggest a paradoxical discipline of liberating one's life by limiting one's material possessions and processes, thus realizing one's responsibilities and the oneness of humanity.

Conduct of Life - Poverty

A Quaker Mutation

Heard, Gerald (1940)

- 7 The author sees current educational trends as unable to satisfy individual needs. The Quaker center, Pendle Hill, can become a model for fundamental changes in education and training of the whole individual.

Pendle Hill - Education

- 8 Rethinking Quaker Principles

Jones, Rufus (1940)

The author believes the Society of Friends is a mutation that emerged from the Reformation movement of the 17th century. If there had been no Puritan movement there would have been no Society of Friends.

English Civil War - Valiant Sixty - Quakerism

Quaker Education in Theory and Practice (Chapter two reprinted as The Nature of Quakerism)

Brinton, Howard Haines (1940)

The author outlines the aims of education, the nature of Quakerism, and Quaker education, giving references for further study.

Education

Community and Worship

Steere, Douglas Van (1940)

- 10 The author discusses therapeutic groups, monastic communities, the Ashram movement, and the Society of Friends. For Quakers, the meeting for worship is the culmination of the experiences of religious community.

Communities - Monasticism - Meeting for Worship

A Discipline for Non-Violence

Gregg, Richard Bartlett (1941)

11

Nonviolent resistance requires the physical element of manual labor and the direct social use of its products.

Discipline - Religious Society of Friends - Doctrine - Pacifism

A Standard of Living

Young, Mildred Binns (1941)

12

The concept of functional poverty suggests that our standard of living causes distress and violence in our world.

Standard of Living - Cost - Poverty - Simplicity

The World Task of Pacifism

13

Muste, Abraham John (1941)

Religious pacifism as it affects social change is addressed in relation to nonviolence, pacifist relief work, pacifist strategies, and alternative service.

Pacifism - Nonviolence - Conscientious Objection

Religion and Politics

Sollmann, Wilhelm (1941)

- 14 A program for modern Christian democracy and a call for action, with a fifteen-point outline for solutions to the problems of the Western world.

Christianity and Politics - Democracy

War is the Enemy

Muste, Abraham Johannes (1942)

- 15 Nonviolence, pacifism, and non-pacifism are discussed as in a search for the truth rather than as philosophical adversaries.

Pacifism

Peacemakers' Dilemma: a Plea for a Modus Vivendi in the Peace Movement

Pickard, Bertram (1942)

- 16 The author discusses the possibility of a compromise among different elements in the peace movement and points out two kinds of pacifism: integral and spurious.

Peace - International Relations - Pacifism

New Nations for Old

Boulding, Kenneth Ewart (1942)

- 17 These plans for the abolition of war were written by an economist-pacifist during World War II. The author looks toward the necessary process of the redemption of nationalism.

War - Peace

Anthology with Comments

Gray, Elizabeth Janet (1942)

- 18 The author offers excerpts from the writings of W. H. Davies, George Herbert, James Stephens, Francis of Assisi, Gerard Manley Hopkins, Thomas Ellwood and William Blake, among others, with her interpretations.

55

By fusing of the divine, the liberal, the useful, and the spiritual, the community of Pendle Hill was founded in 1930.

Community - Pendle Hill

Toward Pacifism: The Convincement and Commitment of a Young European

Sundberg, Gunnar (1950)

- 56 “Is pacifism on the way out?” queries a Swede who saw some military service, took part in international work camps, lived in Germany for a while, then became a dedicated pacifist. His answer is no, it isn’t.

Pacifism - Peace - War

Atomic Peace: With a Memoir by Margaret Goddard Holt

Goddard, Harold Clarke (1950)

- 57 Imagination as a creative force starts small and grows -- as do destructive tendencies. What gives joy, peace and a sense of wonder? Both small “atoms” engender chain reactions for life or its opposing forces.

Quotation: Imagination is not only love and vision – it is power: an energy as actual as that created by a dynamo. Pick the right poem and the right child...and ask the child to dance the poem, and you will have a miniature atomic explosion. pp. 22-23.

Imagination - Creativity

Ten Questions on Prayer

Heard, Gerald (1951)

- 58 The whole problem of prayer involves our unavoidable praying for others.

Prayer

Quaker Strongholds

Stephen, Caroline Emelia (1951)

- 59 A friend by convincement considers the basic doctrines of Quakerism. Selections from the author’s classic book on the subject, which was first published in 1890.

- 80 How does man relate to the political structure of the world?

Politics

The Personal Relevance of Truth

Brown, Thomas Shipley (1955)

- 81 Truth is a life-giving relationship to Reality, and the search for Truth is the search for life itself, asserts this Quaker educator.

Truth - Integrity

Religion and Mental Illness

- 82 Murphy, Carol R. (1955)

Learning how to meet the needs of the mentally ill helps us to become binding and healing agents. This work is basically religious.

Mental Disorders

The Use of Silence

Hoyland, Geoffrey (1955)

83 Humble silence and waiting for divine direction allows each person to encounter God without the need for ritual, forms of liturgy, or worded prayer. This opportunity is open to everyone at any time, alone or in communal worship.

Quotation: As the Living Silence lays hold of them individually they become conscious that they are no longer so many separate entities, they have become fused together in a unity which it is quite impossible to express in words. p. 20.

Silence

From Where They Sit

Hutchinson, Dorothy H. \(Dorothy Hewitt\) (1955)

84 A Quaker housewife takes a round-the-world journey of friendship with an African-American friend, visiting 16 families of widely varying cultures, nationalities, and religions.

85 A dialogue between the Critic on the Hearth and the author on spiritual maturity and morality.

Spirituality

Blake's Four-Fold Vision

Goddard, Harold Clarke (1956)

86 William Blake's genius lies in upending common ideas with insightful poetry that explores life through expressions of innocence, experience, revolution, rebellion, and vision. This provides a way back to innocence, reversing the paths of human error.

Quotation: These types of vision are not arbitrary inventions... they fall, however rarely, incipiently or fragmentarily, within the experience of us all, and that wherever a man may happen to be on that ladder of vision, he is alive to the degree in which in which he is bent on climbing higher... p. 27.

Blake, William

A Shelter from Compassion

Durr, Ruth E. (1956)

87 We insulate ourselves from human eccentricities, constructing barriers between us and a suffering world. Although we may not change circumstances, God within us – compassion – compels us to answer that of God in all others without exception.

Quotation: We can throw ourselves zealously into large vague causes that bear the clear label of magnanimity but never bring us too objectionably close to the hurt that is starkly written in one man's eyes. p. 16.

Compassion

Nonviolent Resistance: A Nation's Way to Peace

Hinshaw, Cecil Eugene (1956)

88

Addresses the problem of meeting evil on the national level.

Passive Resistance - Civil Disobedience

Scruples

Kilpack, Gilbert (1956)

89 A scruple was originally an ancient Roman weight; then it developed into a word meaning difficulty in deciding what is right. This essay explores what it means to have scruples or be scrupulous.

Morality

Insured by Hope

Young, Mildred Binns (1956)

90 What are the practical means by which we can know our single lives are bound to a greater Life and that we are secured in hope? The author finds answers from her own experience of poverty.

Hope - Poverty - Simplicity

The Iliad: Or, The Poem of Force

Weil, Simone (1956)

91

Originally written in 1940 after the fall of France, this essay may be read as an indirect commentary on that event, which symbolized extreme modern force.

Violence - Force - Western Civilization

An Inward Legacy: Selections from Letters to his Friend Edited with an introduction by Gilbert Kilpack

Robinson, Forbes (1956)

92

These excerpts have a common theme: the force of grace, Christian prayer, love, and revelation.

Loyalty by Oath: An Essay on the Extortion of Love

Hoffman, Hallock B. (1957)

94

The loyalty oath depends on fear for its power. The author contends that people should be possessed by love, not fear.

Love - Oaths - Loyalty - Trust - Testimonies
Inner Liberty: The Stubborn Grit in the Machine

Viereck, Peter Robert Edwin (1957)

95

Selfless sacrifice, holy pain, and the fight for the private life are involved in the struggle of the inner imagination against outer mechanization.

Creativity - Private Life - Liberty
John Woolman and the 20th Century

Reynolds, Reginald (1958)

96

The author reflects on the thoughts of Woolman and their applications in contemporary society.

Woolman, John - Testimonies - Spirituality
The Human Way Out

97

Mumford, Lewis (1958)

The hour is late for saving the human race from the possibility of wanton extermination or biological degradation; we must plan with a human purpose springing from divine inspiration.

Integrity, Ecology, and Community: The Motion of Love

403 Ratcliffe, Jennie M. (2009)

Jennie Ratcliffe, drawing on her years of experience and reflection as a scientist and active participant in peace and ecological concerns, believes that a deeper transformation is needed. A spiritual awareness of our oneness reminds us that we live in intimate relationship and kinship with each other, the earth, and the Divine.

Integrity - Ecology - Spirituality - Nonviolence

Kindling a Life of Concern: Spirit-Led Quaker Action

Kirk, Jack (2009)

404 Jack Kirk discusses how concerns arise and are opened to us, how we may test them, and how we may find in them a center of spiritual gravity for our lives. How do we discover our callings as individuals, and what is our calling as a community of Friends?

Ecology - Discernment - Community

Envisioning a Moral Economy

Head, Tom (2010)

405 Quaker economist Tom Head explores how we might think about our economy, and its purposes, in new ways by including religious sources of wisdom and morality in our vision of a just and humane economic future.

Economics - Morality

The Mind of Christ: Bill Taber on Meeting for Business

Birkel, Michael (2010)

406 Bill Taber addressed the rewards and challenges of Quaker business process in a number of presentations to Friends groups. Michael Birkel has edited Bill's notes for these talks into an essay on how Friends can carry into business meeting the practices and attitudes that open the way to Spirit-led decisions in our communities.

Living from the Center: Mindfulness Meditation and Centering for Friends

Brown, Valerie (2010)

407 Valerie Brown is a teacher of centering practices, a Buddhist, and an active Friend. Drawing upon her own experiences and wide studies, Valerie Brown describes for Friends how these various traditions can offer us a better understanding and preparedness for our precious, elusive, mysterious, and simple practice of centering into worship.

Buddhism - Meditation - Worship

408 An Art of Small Resurrections: Surviving the Texas Death Chamber

Long, Walter (2010)

Walter Long, a defense attorney for Texas death row inmates, wrestles with the apparent contradiction between the teachings of Jesus and widespread tolerance for government violence in a state where most citizens identify themselves as Christian.

Who Do You Say I Am?

Wilson, Lloyd Lee (2010)

- 409 This pamphlet invites readers to meet Jesus as Lloyd Lee has come to know Him and to further explore for themselves, “Who do you say I am?”

Jesus

Confident Quakerism

Dandelion, Ben Pink (2010)

- 410 After a personal crisis shook his confidence in himself, Ben Pink Dandelion considered seriously the spiritual meaning of “confidence” (literally, to live and act “with faith”). His insights are especially meaningful for liberal Friends, individually and as a society, as we look toward the future.

Spirituality - Religious Life - Community

Plow up the Fallow Ground

Harper, Lu (2011)

- 411 Through this extended exploration, and by offering rich queries for personal meditation, the author invites readers to rediscover a Quaker way of deriving powerful, personal meaning from the Bible.

Bible - Early Friends - Parables

Answering the Violence

Lampen, John (2011)

- 412 John Lampen, who has served as a Quaker peace worker in Northern Ireland and elsewhere, draws on his own experiences and the accounts of other peace workers to explore the controversies, risks, rewards, and possible benefits of reaching out in friendship to perpetrators of violence.

Peace - Nonviolence - Witness - Northern Ireland

James Nayler Speaking

Drayton, Brian (2011)

413 Brian Drayton found in the writings of this influential and controversial Friend messages that speak to the turmoil of our times, just as they spoke to the turmoil of 1650s England. Some central themes in the ministry of James Nayler are explored, with attention to how they address the most basic challenges of faithfulness in what early Friends called “the Lamb’s War.”

Seeking Inner Peace: Presence, Pain, and Wholeness

De Sa, Elizabeth (2011)

414 Elizabeth De Sa describes her own quest for a life of spiritual authenticity and inner peace in an essay that probes deeply into the lessons learned and the rewards reaped in a search for union with the Divine. In meditation practice she peels back the layers of pain arising from unhealed wounds and false expectations of herself, obstacles that stand in the way of full acceptance of self, others, and the Divine.

Living Our Testimony on Equality: A White Friend’s Experience

Schenck, Patience A. (2011)

415 The principle of human equality is a testimony that Friends are both proud of and challenged by. Proclaiming the importance of equality among peoples is far easier than living equality, day to day and interpersonally. Pat Schenck has dedicated years of study, self-examination, and experimentation to living racial equality in a society that still supports inequality in its institutions.

Grief, Forgiveness, and Redemption as a Way of Transformation

Pryce, Elaine (2012)

416 The traumatic loss of a loved one is among the most devastating hurdles that life can throw in a person’s path. Drawing from her own experience, as well as from art, literature, and traditional wisdom, Elaine Pryce explores the spiritual aspects of grief, recovery from grief, forgiveness, and the blessings of acceptance.

Spirituality - Grief - Forgiveness

John Yungblut: Passing the Mystical Torch

Finn, Charlie (2012)

- 417 In this pamphlet Charlie Finn unveils the faith and vision of John Yungblut. At the heart of this story, readers will discover a spiritual “genealogy”: Rufus Jones, Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, and Carl Jung, who influenced John Yungblut who became a spiritual guide and friend to Charlie Finn.
