Continuing Revolution: Nurturing Experiments in Spiritually Grounded Abolition

On-campus and online: June 2—6, 2023

Join young adult Friends and seekers (ages 18-35) gathering both online and at Pendle Hill to build community with others exploring abolition of police and policing. Building on themes and feedback from Continuing Revolution 2022: Experiments in Spiritually Grounded Abolition, we will focus this year on the relationship between individual and structural transformation. We will explore together definitions and practices of structural change, building skills for positioning ourselves in that work in our respective communities.

We will continue to draw on Mariame Kaba's understanding of abolition as "a vision of a restructured society where we have everything that we need to live dignified lives." Kaba notes that "abolition" is not a static or singular thing; the word is used by people of various political persuasions and imaginations, who "want to eliminate prisons, policing, and surveillance, and . . . want to create true safety, health, and well-being instead." We will learn collectively from the tools, strategies, and processes that contemporary groups are using in local, national, and interpersonal communities, with an emphasis on the interaction between personal and structural work.

Come to Continuing Revolution 2023 to support and be supported in learning to make decisions that reflect your values and hopes for the building of abolitionist futures. Enjoy opportunities for reflection, sharing, worship, and skill-building with other young adults from a wide range of backgrounds and experiences in the nurturing environment of Pendle Hill, either online or in person.
