

Celebrate the New Year at

PENDLE HILL

The Inner Life of Music

On-Campus: Dec 28, 2023 - Jan 1, 2024

A New Year's Eve retreat with Karl Middleman, where we'll learn how composers use music to turn hardships into life-giving measures.

Through experiential individual explorations and group sharing, listening, and learning, we will search the musical paths of our own spiritual lives, and the boundless possibilities music offers for enlightenment and upliftment.

We'll listen to some old-time favorites and introduce you to some new lesser-known but extraordinary composers. We'll behold Peruvian composer Gabriela Lena Frank building an academy for young composers as a response to her encroaching deafness. We'll witness Franz Schubert's triumphant spirit emerge out of the travails of his final string quartet. We'll deep-dive into the wild sonic imagination of Pulitzer Prize winner Caroline Shaw even as we grapple with Mozart's secret code for celebrating each day.

This retreat culminates in an alcohol-free New Year's Eve celebration, with dinner, a concert in the Barn, and midnight candlelit worship.
