Writing and Research Retreat

On Campus: Jan 3-10, 2025

Enjoy a self-guided personal retreat to prepare for the coming college semester, or tackle a personal project in the comfort of Pendle Hill's Library.

Join other motivated individuals to create schedules, build curriculum, prepare research, or get some writing done before the semester begins. This space is open to all—whether you're a research fellow or a local novelist. Cozy up in the library, join us for homecooked meals, and immerse yourself in the peaceful environment to get your important work done. Come and go as you please during this time, either as a daily commuter or an overnight guest.
